EFFORT TO END GOTHAM STRIKE FAILS

REALTY OWNERS REFUSE TO TALK WITH UNION MEN

La Guardia Says He is Willing to Hear Arbitration Delegation

WALKOUT MAY SPREAD

Bambrick Threatens New Action; Elevator Men Willing to Submit Plan

NEW YORK, March 5.—(UP)—James J. Bambrick, leader of New York's five-day elevator strike, threatened today to "take the lid off" and extend the walk-out throughout the metropolis unless real estate owners agree to submit the strikers' demands to arbitration.

In a 15-hour conference at City hall which ended in a deadlock at 4 a. m., the strikers withdrew their demand for immediate acceptance of proposals for higher wages and shorter hours, and agreed to submit the issue to arbitration.

Owners Refuse to Confer
Bambrick, returning to his headquarters after a few hours' sleep, said the union would yield no more and would "fight to the finish" on the arbitration issue. The building owners represented by the realty advisory board refused to arbitrate.

If the owners hold to that stand, Bambrick said he would order a walkout of elevator operators and other union building service employees in the bustling Grand Central business zone, which includes some of the world's largest skyscrapers, and other districts previously unaffected.

Bambrick said the union now was willing to submit all aspects of the dispute to any arbitrator named by "Governor Lehman."

EFFORT TO SAVE GIRL, 18, DEPENDS ON MEDICAL ACT

WESTON, W. Va., March 5.—(UP)—An operation on a pelvic nerve center was the principal hope of physicians today in their struggle to prevent Teresa Hawkins, 18, from laughing herself to death.

Powerful sedatives diminished the paroxysms that have wracked Teresa for eight days, but the physicians were unable to quiet her sufficiently to make an operation possible.

She occasionally gained consciousness and talked coherently, but said only "It's too much trouble" when her father urged her to continue talking. After each lapse into laughter she was closer to complete exhaustion.

Dr. J. E. Offner said that he was convinced a nervous disorder caused Teresa's ailment, not unique, but rare in medical annals.

"Exceptionally heavy school work or other exertion probably caused the outbreak," he said.

Teresa graduated at the head of her business college class last Wednesday, a few hours before she began laughing while attending a motion picture in Fairmont with two other girls.

MAT FOR FIRE HOUSE ADVISED AS WORKERS STING FEET ON FLOOR

Landing on a concrete floor after a slide down the brass pole is not fun for firemen.

Before the new floor was installed the wood planks were softer, they explained. Now they are stinging their feet and receiving jars on a floor that doesn't spring.

Councilman Harry Steinhauser recommended to council a mat of some type be purchased by the city and installed at the base of the pole. His recommendation was referred to the safety committee.

Rudy Sly Witness

TESTIFYING before the House patents committee to object to the Duffy copyright bill which passed the senate, Rudy Sly, crooner and orchestra leader, underwent a barrage of question by the legislators but evaded all traps and "surprised" all in attendance by his knowledge of legal lore. Rudy, testifying on behalf of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, pleaded for strict enforcement of copyright laws. The Duffy bill abrogates the $250 minimum clause for punitive damages against hotels and taverns using songs of the ASCAP without a license.

$10,868 DAMAGE ACTION IS FILED

Portsmouth Woman Sues Three Toledo Brothers

Damages of $10,868 are asked in an action filed in common pleas court Thursday by Mrs. Nannie Williams, Portsmouth, against Tony D. George and John Anton, doing business as Anton Brothers, Toledo, O.

The suit is based on an auto-truck collision last Sept. 15 about three miles north of the city on Route 23.

Mrs. Williams suffered head injuries and the petition states she lost the sight in her right eye and the vision in the left eye is partially lost. It lists hospital, nursing, medical and dental expense at $868. Attorney J. W. Adkins, Jr., represents Mrs. Williams.

FARMERS BEGIN PREPARING FOR SPRING PLOWING

Local merchants report farmers are making their regular spring purchases of horse collars and harness equipment and preparing for favorable conditions to start plowing.

As soon as conditions permit, farmers will be turning soil as swiftly as possible to catch up with their delayed spring work. Deep freezing was beneficial to the ground but the mud has caused further delay.

The break in the weather has created a demand for corn huskers and the work is being rushed as swiftly as possible. The wet weather and sub-zero temperatures made husking impossible during the winter.

ARMY STUDIES INVENTION FOR PLANE ATTACKS

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(UP)—Development of a new mystery "kickless" gun expected to drive hostile aircraft out of the sky and to make land tanks ineffective, was revealed today.

The gun is being developed under conditions of the strictest military secrecy by both the army and the navy. The navy department already has constructed one or more and reports of numerous firing tests have been highly enthusiastic. The gun shoots a cartridge more than a foot long and a projectile three inches long, one and one-tenth inches across, filled with high explosive. It operates as a machine-gun, firing up to 150 times a minute. A battery of these weapons would make the air untenable for hostile airplanes except at such great altitudes that accurate bombing would be impossible.

PRISON HUNGER STRIKE AT END

Many Inmates Take Food After 40-Hour Refusal

ST. CLOUD, Minn., March 5.—(UP)—A hunger strike of a thousand convicts at the Minnesota reformatory here was believed broken at breakfast time today when many inmates who had not eaten for 40 hours accepted food.

Supt. H. W. Whittier said that three ringleaders of the strike had been placed in solitary confinement.

The prisoners, who had made sporadic but ineffectual demonstrations since the strike started Tuesday noon, were not permitted to leave their cells. Food was taken to the cells and inmates were asked whether or not they wished to eat.

Officials would not disclose how many of the strikers had accepted food but admitted they considered the strike broken. They believed the remaining convicts would surrender to hunger demands by nightfall.

The strike began Tuesday noon apparently at a prearranged signal. Demanding higher pay, faster action on paroles, and longer visiting hours, the convicts rose from their dining room tables, dumped their food on the floor and milled about the dining hall. They were herded to their cells immediately.

The demonstration was repeated at supper Tuesday night. Approximately 1,000 of the 1,200 convicts participated.

Prisoners were confined to their cells all day. Food was offered (Continued on Page Six)

PRISON HUNGER STRIKE AT END

Many Inmates Take Food After 40-Hour Refusal

ST. CLOUD, Minn., March 5.—(UP)—A hunger strike of a thousand and convicts at the Minnesota reformatory here was believed broken at breakfast time today when many inmates who had not eaten for 40 hours accepted food.

Supt. H. W. Whittier said that three ringleaders of the strike had been placed in solitary confinement. The prisoners, who had made sporadic but ineffectual demonstrations since the strike started Tuesday noon, were not permitted to leave their cells. Food was taken to the cells and inmates were asked whether or not they wished to eat.

Officials would not disclose how many of the strikers had accepted food but admitted they considered the strike broken. They believed the remaining convicts would surrender to hunger demands by nightfall.

The strike began Tuesday noon apparently at a prearranged signal. Demanding higher pay, faster action on paroles, and longer visiting hours, the convicts rose from their dining room tables, dumped their food on the floor and milled about the dining hall. They were herded to their cells immediately.

The demonstration was repeated at supper Tuesday night. Approximately 1,000 of the 1,200 convicts participated.

Prisoners were confined to their cells all day. Food was offered

CITY'S BALANCE HIROTA TO TAKE FIXED AT $758 REINS IN JAPAN

Condition of Treasury Outlined By Finance Chief

During the last week the city has received approximately $2,800 in the general fund and after payment of salaries for February and the majority of the current bills, a balance of $758.46 remains, according to the financial report presented to councilmen by Ben Gordon, chairman of the finance committee.

The $2,800 includes a $2,000 draft from the county treasurer on the belated December tax collection, and $800 received from the county covering its share of the expense of the new boiler at the Memorial hall.

Balances in city funds on March 1, follow: library $3,197.82; Marcus Brown fund $853.38, auto street repair $630.79, gas tax $2,050, Berger hospital $380.91, Court-street sewer project $173.08, and Berger will fund $257.13. The total is $8,310.57.

ALFALFA SEED IS GOOD TO CHANGE GREY HAIR

TOLEDO, March 5.—(UP)—Grey hair can be restored to natural color by consumption of alfalfa tea for 17 to 23 months, Dr. Michael Erim Brooks, psychologist and dietitian said, in a lecture here. Alfalfa tea is the only food containing the elements which react on the hair glands, he said.

FATHER KILLS CHILD SELF BY AUTO FUMES

WATERBURY, Conn., March 5.—(UP)—Wrapping his 5-month-old son in a blanket and placing him in the front seat of his automobile, Maurice S. Willner, killed the child and himself in his cellar-garage today by starting the motor of his car.

Both bodies were found by Mrs. Willner who was awakened by carbon monoxide fumes. She rescued two other children, Barbara, 2, and Allen, 8, who were unconscious in bed. They were revived in the yard.

Mrs. Willner told police that while her husband had been worried by financial reverses, he had given no intimation of suicide.

Moderate Foreign Minister Heeds Hirohito's Plea

TOKYO, March 5.—(UP)—Koki Hirota, a moderate who knows intimately Japan's great neighbors, Russia and the United States, accepted today the task of forming a cabinet to guide the country's policies in the difficult months ahead.

Emperor Hirohito summoned foreign minister in the present cabinet, to the imperial palace in mid-afternoon. Within an hour Hirota had accepted the task of forming his cabinet. He went to work at once, announcing:

"My cabinet will be composed of young, able statesmen."

Hirota's selection to lead a government that must administer the national life firmly after the revolt by young extremist army officers last week, was taken to mean that the emperor has determined to proceed with the modernization of the country, and to exercise his power to rule instead of permitting himself to be the exalted agent of military overlords.

Not only did the revolt fail, not only was it suppressed by the emperor's order instead of being compromised, not only did it fail to bring a military dictatorship, but on the basis of Hirota's nomination, it reaffirmed the modern idea of a cabinet in which leading political parties would have representation as a national balance.

CAPITAL NEARS MOSIER TO QUIT GOVERNOR RACE

Failure of Sawyer Support to Rally to Banner Believed Cause of Action

COLUMBUS, March 5.—Lieut. Gov. Harold G. Mosier, who recently announced that he was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, will withdraw from the race within two weeks, reliable sources report.

After Charles Sawyer withdrew as the opposition candidate to Gov. Martin L. Davey, Mr. Mosier appeared to have attracted to his support all the factions of the Democratic party that were seeking to oust the governor from the state house. The lieutenant governor waited until it was certain that Congressman-at-large Stephen Young of Cleveland, had decided definitely not to enter the gubernatorial race, and then announced his candidacy.

But the failure of the Sawyer support to swing enthusiastically behind Mr. Mosier, is said to be one of the chief reasons for the Cleveland's decision to back out of the race. He had counted heavily on an active campaign by former Sawyer backers in the primary contest, and it was admitted by Mr. Mosier's friends here that unless the Sawyer strength was swung wholeheartedly behind the lieutenant governor, he would stand little chance of defeating the incumbent for the nomination.

These sources assert that Mr.

Mosier realizes that it would be a difficult task to buck the Davey machine, which at the present time is one of the most formidable political organizations in the history of the state. Even with complete backing from the Sawyer groups, observers here doubted whether Mr. Mosier had much of a chance to best Davey. The coolness with which his announcement was received in Cincinnati, is said to have led Mr. Mosier to decide definitely to withdraw.

Dunleavy Enters
Meantime, another Davey supporter, Dennis Dunleavy, of Ashtabula, announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General. Mr. Dunleavy has been prominent in Davey circles ever since the beginning of the administration and has been rewarded with various posts.

HUGE LEDGERS NEEDED FOR DISTRICT RECORD

NEW PHILADELPHIA, March 5.—(UP)—If the 32,000 cards of the Muskingum Conservancy District's appraisal record were laid end to end they would make a strip 7.5 miles long, cover an area of eight-tenths of an acre if spread solidly on the ground, and reach a height of 52 feet if piled vertically.

Fifty-seven huge ledgers contain the three copies of the record. The total weight of the record is over a ton. Despite the fact that the 32,000 appraisal cards were handled by a score of persons only two were lost during nineteen months of compilation.

CITY'S BALANCE HIROTA TO TAKE FIXED AT $758 REINS IN JAPAN

Condition of Treasury Outlined By Finance Chief Moderate Foreign Minister Heeds Hirohito's Plea

TOKYO, March 5.—(UP)—Koki Hirota, a moderate who knows intimately Japan's great neighbors, Russia and the United States, accepted today the task of forming a cabinet to guide the country's policies in the difficult months ahead. Emperor Hirohito summoned foreign minister in the present cabinet, to the imperial palace in mid-afternoon. Within an hour Hirota had accepted the task of forming his cabinet. He went to work at once, announcing: "My cabinet will be composed of young, able statesmen."

Hirota's selection to lead a government that must administer the national life firmly after the revolt by young extremist army officers last week, was taken to mean that the emperor has determined to proceed with the modernization of the country, and to exercise his power to rule instead of permitting himself to be the exalted agent of military overlords. Not only did the revolt fail, not only was it suppressed by the emperor's order instead of being compromised, not only did it fail to bring a military dictatorship, but on the basis of Hirota's nomination, it reaffirmed the modern idea of a cabinet in which leading political parties would have representation as a national balance.

TOLEDO, March 5.—(UP)—Grey hair can be restored to natural color by consumption of alfalfa tea for 17 to 23 months, Dr. Michael Erim Brooks, psychologist and dietitian said, in a lecture here. Alfalfa tea is the only food containing the elements which react on the hair glands, he said.

CAPITAL HEARS MOSIER TO QUIT GOVERNOR RACE

Failure of Sawyer Support to Rally to Banner Believed Cause of Action

COLUMBUS, March 5.—Lieut. Gov. Harold G. Mosier, who recently announced that he was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, will withdraw from the race within two weeks, reliable sources report.

After Charles Sawyer withdrew as the opposition candidate to Gov. Martin L. Davey, Mr. Mosier appeared to have attracted to his support all the factions of the Democratic party that were seeking to oust the governor from the state house. The lieutenant governor waited until it was certain that Congressman-at-large Stephen Young of Cleveland, had decided definitely not to enter the gubernatorial race, and then announced his candidacy.

But the failure of the Sawyer support to swing enthusiastically behind Mr. Mosier, is said to be one of the chief reasons for the Cleveland's decision to back out of the race. He had counted heavily on an active campaign by former Sawyer backers in the primary contest, and it was admitted by Mr. Mosier's friends here that unless the Sawyer strength was swung wholeheartedly behind the lieutenant governor, he would stand little chance of defeating the incumbent for the nomination.

These sources assert that Mr. Mosier realizes that it would be a difficult task to buck the Davey machine, which at the present time is one of the most formidable political organizations in the history of the state. Even with complete backing from the Sawyer groups, observers here doubted whether Mr. Mosier had much of a chance to best Davey. The coolness with which his announcement was received in Cincinnati, is said to have led Mr. Mosier to decide definitely to withdraw.

Dunleavy Enters

Meantime, another Davey supporter, Dennis Dunleavy, of Ashtabula, announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General. Mr. Dunleavy has been prominent in Davey circles ever since the beginning of the administration and has been rewarded with various posts.

HUGE LEDGERS NEEDED FOR DISTRICT RECORD

NEW PHILADELPHIA, March 5.—(UP)—If the 32,000 cards of the Muskingum Conservancy District's appraisal record were laid end to end they would make a strip 7.5 miles long, cover an area of eight-tenths of an acre if spread solidly on the ground, and reach a height of 52 feet if piled vertically.

Fifty-seven huge ledgers contain the three copies of the record. The total weight of the record is over a ton. Despite the fact that the 32,000 appraisal cards were handled by a score of persons only two were lost during nineteen months of compilation.

WAGE EARNERS MUST SAVE FOR AGE NEXT YEAR

One Per Cent of Salary to Be Taken in 1937, 1938 and 1939

COLUMBUS, March 5.—(UP)—Beginning next Jan. 1, Uncle Sam is going to make every wage or salary earner save for old age. Employers, too, will contribute to the old age funds.

Then as each reaches 65, the savings will begin to come back in the form of monthly allowances, varying in amount according to total earnings in the intervening years. The first of these old age benefits will be received in 1942 by persons who then have reached the age of 65.

Beginning Jan. 1, 1937, each employee and each employer in the United States (except certain exempted classes) will be assessed on the basis of wages received or wages paid. The rate will be 1 per cent for 1937, 1938 and 1939, and then will rise by one-half per cent jumps every three years, until in 1949 it reaches 3 per cent and stays at that level for the future.

Benefits Computed

The benefits the government will pay each month beginning at age 65, based on total earnings from Jan. 1, 1937, until the attainment of that age, are computed as follows:

On the first $3,000 of total earnings, one-half per cent; on the next $42,000, one-twelfth per cent; on all over $45,000, one twenty-fourth per cent. The sum of these three percentages is the amount the beneficiary will receive each month for the remainder of his life after 65.

The government guarantees, too, that the beneficiary will receive at least 3 1/4 per cent of his total earnings. If he dies before 65, that guarantee will be paid to his estate. Or if he dies after 65 but before he has drawn the full 3 1/4 per cent, the uncollected share will go to his estate.

None of this applies if you work for the federal or state government or for any political subdivision, or for a religious, charitable or educational agency, or if you are in agricultural labor or domestic service. And there will be no assessments or benefits for anybody if the supreme court rules the law unconstitutional.

all Tales

A NEW story is going the rounds concerning George Goodchild, the old trapper of the children's home.

Mr. Goodchild is a very fast man, especially with an ax, but how he ever did this one puzzles many of his friends.

He was doing some work in a woods near his residence one day, and, for convenience sake, was carrying his trusty ax. Walking across a railroad trestle, he saw a speeding freight bearing down on him. He had no chance to run off the trestle and was despairing for his life when he decided to trust in his ax. He swung the blade into a tie and dropped off the rails, hanging from the ax-handle.

The locomotive thundered onto the trestle. There hung Mr. Goodchild with a raving below him. The trestle was shaking, and as a result the ax started to loosen. It was at this point that Mr. Goodchild exhibited his superlative speed. He jerked the ax from the tie, swung it over his head into the tie, and hung suspended there until the train passed.

It must have been a real experience, by George.

THE SAFE DRIVER

WHAT constitutes a safe driver? The answer to this question is a simple one: Common sense. Traffic experts, police, automobile manufacturers, racing drivers and others cooperating in the movement to reduce the annual automobile death toll are agreed that if the judgment exercised by most people in every-day living were extended to their driving, the number of accidents would be greatly reduced.

Good driving is largely a matter of good judgment, and one way in which good judgment manifests itself, according to Maxwell Halsey, assistant director of the Bureau of Street Traffic Research of Harvard University, is in making allowance for the other fellow.

Other characteristics listed by Mr. Halsey indicate that the safe driver is a man of common sense, one who is continually adjusting himself to changing conditions, such as the state of the road, the weather, the time of day, the driver's own physical condition and the condition of the car.

"Accidents don't happen — they're caused." And the man of common sense sees to it, in the interests of his own safety and the safety of others, that the causes are reduced to a minimum.

A CLEAR DIAGNOSIS

SPEAKING recently before the American Association for the Advancement of Science Harold G. Mounton, president of the Brookings Institution, made this statement of economic doctrine:

"The efficient functioning of the economic system requires a broader dissemination of income among the masses of the people. Growth in the economic organism, as in other organisms, must proceed from the broadest possible foundations.

"We cannot expect to realize the benefits of mass production except in an economy of mass consumption. Back of each new unit of productive power there must be, if the economic system is to function effectively, a new unit of purchasing power for the goods which such productive capacity can supply. Only thus can the economic system be kept in balance."

There is nothing fundamentally new in these conclusions, but seldom have the fundamentals of economic progress been expressed so clearly and effectively.

We understand that the real author of Dr. Townsend's plan is Gracie Allen.

PRECAUTIONS FAIL TO ABATE RIVER

WASHINGTON—There is one government policy on which both Herbert Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt see eye to eye.

As a result of this apparent freak of politics, the nation is in a better position to resist the rampages of Mississippi Valley floods this spring.

Both Hoover and Roosevelt have been ardent advocates of flood control, both have pushed the flood control program.

Hoover started the 10-year flood control program along the Mississippi and its tributaries. Roosevelt continued it so vigorously that it will be completed in eight instead of ten years.

Despite these preparations, the terrific volume of water expected to hurtle down the Mississippi with the melting of this year's record snows undoubtedly will wreak terrific damage in the South.

LIBERTY SILENCED

A pall of silence suddenly has settled upon the American Liberty League. "Freedom does not ring" any more. It is one of the most interesting developments of the presidential campaign.

Until recently, the publicity office of the Liberty League was turning out press statements as fast as its mimeograph machine could operate. For intemperate criticism of the New Deal, these blasts almost rivaled the vitriol of Huey Long.

But now the firing has ceased. Orders were passed down to Liberty publicity sharks to lay off the heavy artillery and stick to an "educational" campaign against Roosevelt.

This about-face is highly significant. It indicates the ever-present political risk of overplaying a hand.

There is no doubt that the Liberty Leaguers overplayed theirs. For the inside explanation of this lightning switch is the fact that Liberty blasts were beginning to react in Roosevelt's favor.

This reaction partly was the work of Charlie Michelson, astute Democratic press chieftain. He started a campaign to show that the chief opposition to Roosevelt was entrenched wealth.

The League was an easy target. Every time it issued a statement, Charlie pointed an accusing finger at the millionaire du-Ponts, chief enthusiasts for Liberty.

To have entrenched wealth against you is a political asset, and the Republicans were the first to see this. Some of them actually complained to Democratic colleagues in Congress that Michelson was unfair in linking them with the Liberty League. The League, they said, was conceived by wealthy Democrats. The Republicans had nothing to do with it.

Finally even the Liberty boys woke up. Hence the surcease of handouts.

CHAPTER 29

THORA DAHL compressed her lips tightly as she assured herself upon one matter following Mrs. Steele's visit. Whatever happened, she would never appeal to "Dottie" for advice or help. With the aid of Katie and the girls she could manage in any emergency, she believed. And she would brook no outside interference.

Mr. Marsh had told her that she was "boss" now.

In spite of her resolves, Thora looked forward with apprehensiveness to the arrival of the guest. It was bound to make a change in the household atmosphere and, very easily, an unpleasant one. A stranger at the table for every meal. Mr. Marsh always was a guest, returned to the family circle, none too agreeable as a rule. What would he be like now, in the presence of a guest whom he had made up his mind to dislike cordially? It would mean a constant tension for Wilma, trying to put her hands at his elbow when in the family circle, none too agreeable as a rule. What would he be like now, in the presence of a guest whom he had made up his mind to dislike cordially? It would mean a constant tension for Wilma, trying to put her hands at his elbow when in the family circle, none too agreeable as a rule.

She decided that she would open the front door, allow events to take their own course.

When the moment came, Wilma entered—followed by a man so entirely unlike Thora's mental picture that she caught her breath. A small man, thin, Thora had a confused vision of a gray flannel suit. Shining brown hair combed back from a high white forehead. Two alert gray eyes, one of them peering through a monocle.

Wilma bestowed a friendly smile and led the guest to the stairs.

She turned to her guest with an easy smile. "Mr. Babbas, this is Miss Dahl."

Before she could finish, Mr. Babbas bowed stiffly from the waist. "Charmed, I'm sure."

Wilma came to the rescue with an unexpected display of tact at her fiancé's so formal an acknowledgment of his introduction to the housekeeper. She said quietly:

"I'm sure you'll want to freshen up a little. Miss Dahl will show you to your room and have your things taken up as soon as they arrive."

"Oh, yes...right," Mr. Babbas murmured vaguely, glancing about to see if his host was behind him.

Fortunately, Selwyn had lingered at the machine to give some directions to Pat Donahue. He contributed to the ease of the situation by starting up the stairway. The guest followed.

At the door of the east room, she stood aside and allowed him to enter.

"Ted will bring up your things, Mr. Babbas. If there is anything you need, please tell him."

"Wait a minute," Babbas removed his monocle and tossed it on the bed. He rubbed his eye vigorously, then smiled broadly. "Thora found herself thinking that he had the whitest and most perfect teeth she ever had seen."

"I beg your pardon?"

The guest's manner changed. He came nearer and lowered his voice. "I mean I got you wrong. I thought sure you were some girl friend of Wilma's...that she was springing a surprise on me. You're too good-looking for a servant."

Thora gave him a level glance. Her blue eyes exhibited their trick of seeming to darken. She turned to leave, but Babbas laid a hand on her arm.

"I want to ask you something."

"Yes," she stepped aside, so that he could pass.

"What sort of a cove is the old gentleman?" Wilma tells me he's a bit rabid, but I didn't like..."

To Thora's relief, this conference was interrupted by the sound of shuffling steps in the hall. Ted appeared, staggering under the weight of two huge suitcases.

"Dinner is at 7, Mr. Babbas," she announced formally. And disappeared.

Her mind was in something of a turmoil as she went down to oversee the final preparations for the evening meal. Her first quick resentment of Mr. Babbas' attitude was giving way to a puzzled feeling, as she recalled his words. After all, he was a foreigner. He considered her in the light of a servant. That might have accounted for his undue familiarity.

But she could not escape the feeling that, when he discarded his monocle, she had seen some personality that went with it. She was willing to give him the benefit of the doubt, but she was quite sure that she would not like him. In spite of herself, she was filled with misgivings on Wilma's account.

Air Pilot Needs More Than Normal Vision

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
THE ROYAL AIR CORPS of Great Britain, after the World War, showed that airplane accidents were due 8 per cent to faulty mechanism in the machine, 2 per cent due to enemy fire, and 90 per cent to the physical defects of the pilots. This being true, it is evident that careful physical examination is by all odds the most important element in preventing airplane tragedies.

Experiences have borne this out because with the extremely careful physical tests which pilots have to pass now, accidents of this kind have been eliminated almost completely. Soon after the physical examinations were begun accidents were reduced 50 per cent.

The interest in this type of work has become so great that a special magazine is devoted to the subject called, "The Journal of Aviation Medicine," edited by Dr. Louis H. Bauer, and published in St. Paul, Minnesota.

The tests made on prospective pilots include, of course, the general physical examination that would occur in any job requiring good physical fitness. Examination of the heart, lungs, kidneys, blood pressure, etc., are all made, but there are three general tests which the aviation pilot has to pass more rigidly than any other kind of an engineer. One of these is a special test for sight; another is for equilibrium, and the third is his mental reactions.

Eyes Better Than Normal
The eyes must be better than normal for distance vision, with quick and accurate vision and perfect muscle balance and, of course, there must be good color perception and no night blindness. An interesting test

THE WRONG LEAD

WHEN YOU hold the master hand at the table it is exasperating not to have partner lead your suit against no trumps, when it offers the only possible defense capable of defeating the contract, as clearly shown by the bidding:

♦ J 10 9 8 7 4 2
♣ K 9 5

♠ K J 8 3
♥ 7 5 2
♦ K 6
♣ Q 10 7

♠ A Q 10 9 5 2
♥ A 3 4
♣ 8 4 8

Bidding went: South, 1-Spade; West, 1-No Trump, on at least two steps in spades; North, 2-Diamonds; East, 2-Hearts; South, 2-Spades, to show the importance of having that suit led against no trumps; West, 3-No Trumps; East, 3-Club; West, 3-No Trumps, which South doubled, to assure an opening lead of spades.

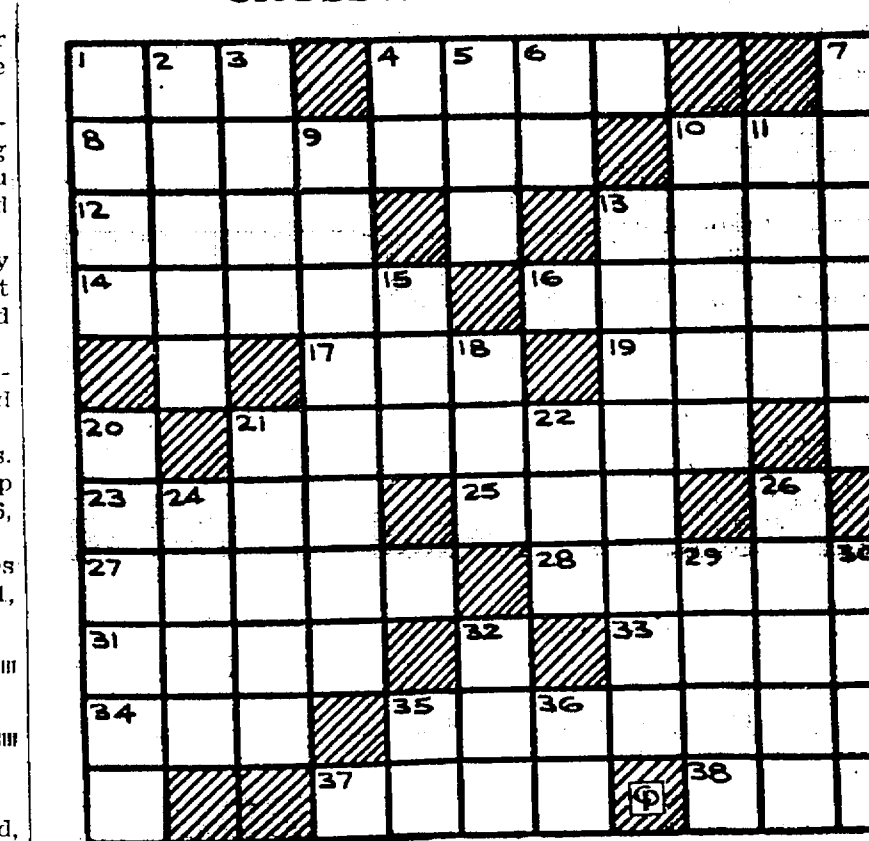

The opening lead was the J of diamonds, taking South's only card of that suit. South led back his Ace of spades, followed by the Q, putting declarer in with his K. That worthy, declaring in with his K, then with the Ace. He established spades by giving declarer his J. Then followed 4 club tricks, which picked up North's K, and which forced South to let go one of his precious spades. West let go a heart. Everybody was down to 4 cards, as shown below.

As will be seen, West now had

South squeezed, for 4-odd at no trumps, when he should not have been able to fulfill his contract. On the two leads of good diamonds South had to let go his lowest spade, then, either to ungaurd his J of hearts or discard his last spade. He let go his 4 of hearts, as his only hope of obtaining another defensive trick. Declarer led the 5 of hearts, went up with dummy's K, dropping South's J and making the 10 good for the last trick. South won tricks only with his 3 Aces, giving West 4-odd, doubled.

Note what will happen with an opening lead of spades. Win with South's Ace. Lead back the Q, putting in West with the K of spades. Have West play to best advantage, by running off 4 club tricks, picking up North's K. South will let go a spade on the fourth club led. Lead a low diamond from dummy, taking out South's Ace, and giving declarer their second trick. Clear South's spades, by giving West his J. Then, giving him a total of eight tricks. South will let go both his lower hearts while the two diamonds are played. South will win the next lead with his Ace of hearts, then he will take two spade tricks, putting down the contract a trick doubled, instead of having declarer make a trick over contract.

Mr. Marsh had told her that she was "boss" now.

In spite of her resolves, Thora looked forward a trifle apprehensively to the arrival of the guest. It was bound to make a change in the household atmosphere and, very easily, an unpleasant one. A stranger at the table for every meal. Mr. Marsh always was an uncertain link in the family circle, none too agreeable as a rule. What would he be like now, in the presence of a guest whom he had made up his mind to dislike cordially? It would mean a constant tension for Wilma, trying to pull her fiancé at his ease when in the company. Thora found herself feeling sorry for the girl. Now that Wilma was inclined to be friendly, perhaps she could assist in keeping the general peace. But her efforts would have to be very unobtrusive. Mr. Babbas probably would wonder why she appeared at the table, anyway.

What sort of man would this "Alf Babbas" prove to be? Thora, who had found herself adopting Sherman Gordon's humorous appellation for the new arrival. It seemed appropriate, somehow.

The name Babbas was foreign-sounding, but brought no particular suggestion regarding its owner's nationality. There was no reason to think he was an Arab; Mr. Marsh had been influenced by the sound of the name when he made that guess. But the notion colored all of Thora's speculations, nevertheless.

She found herself picturing Mr. Babbas as a swarthy individual, tall, polished in manner, suave. Perhaps the Latin type, handsome, resembling certain of the screen's favorite actors.

The hours before his arrival were anxious ones for the housekeeper; she felt this new responsibility keenly and inspected the rooms over and over. The excitement of the occasion spread to the kitchen, where Katie Donahue was exerting herself to prepare a dinner fit for "any fur-liner". Nellie and Jane had settled it between themselves that Miss Wilma's "fella" was a member of the nobility and were fluttering about in a state of agitation.

Thora shared their trepidation somewhat when she saw the reception cavalcade leave the house. Marsh, forbidding but neat, occupied a seat in the limousine beside his daughter, with Pat Donahue at the wheel. Ted brought up the rear with the light truck.

"They must figure his lordship's gown to stay a spell."

That from Katie who had stolen in from the kitchen to peer over Thora's shoulder.

The housekeeper nodded absently. A new problem had assailed her. What was she supposed to do when the family and its guest returned? Keep out of sight until dinner time? Or should she be on hand to usher the newcomer to his room, see that his baggage followed him? A hazy recollection of Little Lord Fauntleroy came to mind. She seemed to remember that the housekeeper and all the retainers stood in line at the front door as a committee of welcome. But that was in England.

She decided that she would open the front door, allow events to take their own course.

When the moment came, Wilma entered—followed by a man so entirely unlike Thora's mental picture that she caught her breath. A small man, thin, "Ted" had a confused vision of a gray flannel suit. Shining brown hair combed back from a high white forehead. Two alert gray eyes, one of them peering through—

A monocle!

Wilma bestowed a friendly smile and nod upon the girl standing motionless near the foot of the stairway. She turned to her guest with an easy smile.

"Mr. Babbas, this is Miss Dahl. She . . ."

Before she could finish, Mr. Babbas bowed stiffly from the waist.

"Charmed, I'm sure."

Wilma came to the rescue with an unexpected display of tact at her fiancé's so formal acknowledgment of her introduction to the housekeeper. She said quietly:

"I'm sure you'll want to freshen up a little, Alec. Miss Dahl will show you your room and have your things taken up as soon as they arrive."

"Oh, yes . . . right," Mr. Babbas murmured vaguely, glancing about to see if his host was behind him.

Fortunately, Selwyn had lingered at the machine to give some directions to Pat Donahue. Thora contributed to the ease of the situation by starting up the stairway. The guest followed.

At the door of the east room, she stood aside and allowed him to enter.

"Ted will bring up your things, Mr. Babbas. If there is anything you need, please tell him."

"Wait a minute." Babbas removed his monocle and tossed it on the bed. He rubbed his eye vigorously, then smiled broadly. Thora found herself thinking that he had the whitest and most perfect teeth she ever had seen.

"I say . . . pulled a boner, didn't I?"

"I beg your pardon?"

"The guest's manner changed. He came nearer and lowered his voice. 'I mean I got you wrong. I thought sure you were some girl friend of Wilma's . . . that she was springing a surprise on me. You're too good-looking for a servant.'"

Thora gave him a level glance. Her blue eyes exhibited their trick of seeming to darken. She turned to leave, but Babbas laid a hand on her arm.

"I want to ask you something."

"Yes?" She stepped aside, so that his hand fell away.

"What sort of a cove is the old gentleman? Wilma tells me he's a bit rabid, but I didn't like . . ."

To Thora's relief, this confidence was interrupted by the sound of shuffling steps in the hall. Ted appeared, staggering under the weight of two huge suitcases.

"Dinner is at 7, Mr. Babbas," she announced formally. And disappeared.

Her mind was in something of a turmoil as she went down to oversee the final preparations for the evening meal. Her first quick resentment of Mr. Babbas' attitude was giving way to a puzzled feeling, as she recalled his words. After all, he was a foreigner. He considered her in the light of a servant. That might have accounted for his undue familiarity. But she could not escape the feeling that, when he discarded his monocle, he shed some personality that went with it. She was willing to give him the benefit of the doubt, but she was quite sure that she would not like him. In spite of herself, she was filled with misgivings on Wilma's account.

Air Pilot Needs More Than Normal Vision

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE ROYAL AIR CORPS of Great Britain, after the World War showed that airplane accidents were due 8 per cent to faulty mechanism in the machine, 2 per cent due to enemy fire, and 90 per cent to the physical defects of the pilots. This being true, it is evident that careful physical examination is by all odds the most important element in preventing airplane tragedies.

Experience has borne this out because with the extremely careful physical tests which pilots have to pass now, accidents of this kind have been eliminated almost completely. Soon after the physical examinations were begun accidents were reduced 50 per cent.

The interest in this type of work has become so great that a special magazine is devoted to the subject called, "The Journal of Aviation Medicine," edited by Dr. Louis H. Bauer, and published in St. Paul, Minnesota.

The tests made on prospective pilots include, of course, the general physical examination that would occur in any job requiring good physical fitness. Examination of the heart, lungs, kidneys, blood pressure, etc., are all made, but there are three general tests which the aviation pilot has to pass more rigidly than any other kind of an engineer. One of these is a special test for sight; another is for equilibrium, and the third is his mental reactions.

Eyes Better Than Normal

The eyes must be better than normal for distance vision, with quick and accurate vision and perfect muscle balance and, of course, there must be good color perception and no night blindness. An interesting test of the eyes is that of depth perception. This consists in the ability to judge distance, as used by fliers in taking off, in formation flying at high speed, in approaching buildings and other obstacles, and in making landings. The apparatus for making this test is called the "Howard Dulan Apparatus," and consists of a black box with two pegs, one stationary and the other movable. One side of the box is open so that the applicant can see the pegs. They are attached to strings and he is told to place the pegs side by side. If he is not able to do this closer than 30 millimeters he is disqualified.

Color perception is naturally important for a pilot, and people with color blindness are eliminated by the usual test.

OFFICIALS HEAR REPORTS ABOUT THREE MATTERS

Three complaints were reported to councilmen by W. F. Baker, chairman of the service committee, Wednesday.

He reported the concrete driveway at the Sinclair filling station on N. Court-st had cracked as a result of installation of the sewer pipes across the property. Under an agreement made previous to the installation of the sewer between city officials and the management, council directed the property be replaced to its original condition in compliance with terms.

Henry Hulse, S. Court-st, asked the city to improve the approach to his driveway. He informed Mr. Baker he had bricks and tar for the improvement. The matter was referred to the service committee.

Charles Niles complained to Mr. Baker that water draining along the Pennsylvania railroad is flooding the basement of his building on S. Pickaway-st. The basement is used for storing potatoes. The service committee plans to confer with railroad officials to work out a remedy for the conditions.

COUNTY TO BUY TIRES FROM TWO CONCERNS

Contracts for tires for two county trucks and a road grader were awarded by the county commissioners Wednesday to the Dunlop Tire service and the Gordon Tire and Accessory Co.

The Dunlop service will furnish four tires for $156.32, and the low bid on solid tires for the road grader was $210 submitted by the Gordon Co. Ten local firms submitted bids.

U. S. TO EXPEND NINE MILLIONS IN GREAT LAKES

Principal Harbors to Be Improved as Increasing Business is Reported

WASHINGTON, March 5. — (UP)—The Federal Government plans to spend nearly $9,000,000 for maintenance and improvements of the principal harbors of the Great Lakes area during 1936 to speed up and facilitate water borne traffic on the American "Inland Seas," it was revealed today.

A survey of the engineering projects under way or contemplated by the Board of U. S. Army Engineers for Rivers and Harbors revealed that district and divisional engineers for the Great Lakes region anticipate an increase both in shipping and the volume of passengers and commerce carried by Lake shipping during the coming year. Figures for 1935 were not available, but the Army Engineers' annual report on commercial statistics for the calendar year 1934 revealed the importance of this shipping in the general commerce of the United States.

Exports Pass 4 Million Tons

Imports through United States ports on the Great Lakes during 1934 totaled 4,286,984 tons, valued at $119,210,992, of which some 271,285 tons, valued at $10,068,281 represented imports from overseas or foreign ports. Imports from Canadian ports totaled 4,015,699 tons, valued at $109,142,711.

U. S. exports over Lakes shipping was approximately double the imports in tons, but only one-half the value of imports. Total exports from U. S. Lake ports were 9,488,208 tons, valued at $55,956,923. Of this amount, 71,573 tons, with a value of $3,133,395 went to overseas ports, and 9,416,635 tons valued at $52,823,528 went to Canada.

The great bulk of Great Lakes traffic, however, was domestic commerce between Lakes ports, and between Lakes ports and sea-coast ports. This amounted to 7,794,580 tons, valued at $1,440,554,308.

No Harbors Overlooked

To assure that this important water-borne trade shall continue to move without interruption, the Federal Government has not overlooked a single important harbor along the Great Lakes in its 1936 program for improvements.

The largest projects, in sums of money to be expended during the current year, are Keweenaw Waterway, where current plans call for expenditure of $1,464,000 for completion of breakwaters and dredging; Calumet Harbor, Ill., and Ind., $1,098,000, also for completion of breakwaters and dredging in the harbor; and Lorain Harbor, O., $1,027,200, virtually all of which is for dredging operations.

4-H CLUBBERS GATHER IN PERRY TOWNSHIP

Atlanta 4-H club members were hosts to the County Senior 4-H club Monday evening. Approximately 75 enjoyed the worth while evening, the attendance having increased about 25.

A committee of four members was appointed by the president George Fischer, to meet and decide on a definite course of study for the ensuing months.

Music was the diversion of the study hour having been continued from the previous meeting. Musical games, rounds, and songs were studied and practiced.

At the close of the meeting the Atlanta group served refreshments. The meeting adjourned to meet April 3 at the Ashville school.

Potato chips packed in metal bags survive transportation in good conditions.

FLUSH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 2 pounds of waste, poisonous matter may develop, causing serious trouble. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, which have been used successfully by millions of people for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to flush out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes. Get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist.

Imports through United States ports on the Great Lakes during 1934 totaled 4,286,984 tons, valued at $119,210,992, of which some 271,285 tons, valued at $10,068,281 represented imports from overseas or foreign ports. Imports from Canadian ports totaled 4,015,699 tons, valued at $109,142,711.

U. S. exports over Lakes shipping was approximately double the imports in tons, but only one-half the value of imports. Total exports from U. S. Lake ports were 9,488,208 tons, valued at $55,956,923. Of this amount, 71,573 tons, with a value of $3,133,395 went to overseas ports, and 9,416,635 tons valued at $52,823,528 went to Canada.

The great bulk of Great Lakes traffic, however, was domestic commerce between Lakes ports, and between Lakes ports and sea-coast ports. This amounted to 7,794,580 tons, valued at $1,410,554,308.

No Harbors Overlooked
To assure that this important water-borne trade shall continue to move without interruption, the Federal Government has not overlooked a single important harbor along the Great Lakes in its 1936 program for improvements.

The largest projects, in sums of money to be expended during the current year, are Keweenaw Waterway, where current plans call for expenditure of $1,464,000 for completion of breakwaters and dredging; Calumet Harbor, Ill., and Ind., $1,098,000, also for completion of breakwaters and dredging in the harbor, and Lorain Harbor, O., $1,027,200, virtually all of which is for dredging operations.

A committee of four members was appointed by the president George Fischer, to meet and decide on a definite course of study for the ensuing months.

FLUSH OUT
15 MILES OF
KIDNEY TUBES

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste, poisonous matter may develop, causing serious trouble. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, which have been used successfully by millions of people for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to flush out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes. Get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist.

Radio Schedule Changes Start With Springtime

Grace Moore Returns from West, Kaltenborn Resumes Airings, and New Revue to Begin on March 17

WITH THE COMING of the robin and the first budding violets there is usually a change in radio schedules. The changes of programs this year, however, may not be so widespread.

It is understood that a number of sponsors who have held ideal spots on the big programs are quite likely to continue on the air as a safeguard against losing the preferred position on the schedule which they now hold.

This will be all right with those listeners who like their programs.

SOME CHANGES have already taken place.

Grace Moore has returned from Hollywood to resume broadcasting her popular voice from New York.

H. V. Kaltenborn's weekly news broadcast is now heard in the early afternoon, Sundays (eastern time).

Coming changes include Sigmund Romberg's concert which becomes a Monday fixture, March 16, a new revue featuring Eddie Dowling and Ray Dooley on St. Patrick's Day (March 17) and a half hour variety show with Author Charles Hanson Towne as master of ceremonies will be launched March 12.

THOUGH THERE is little television news in the United States, England is apparently rushing developments in the newer medium.

Television tests will begin in London this month in the hope that a regular service may be established by late May or June.

According to best available information, the British television planners are tentatively arranging a three-hour daily schedule as a starter. The periods would be divided into three separate broadcasts, each consisting of four programs.

It is the opinion of English television men that the "televiseurs", as they are now called, would tire of programs of greater length than an hour, due, probably, to eyestrain.

NOTES: In hope of bolstering general interest in television, British Broadcasting company plans a free "viewing room" for the public when regular, television schedules have been achieved. . . . When you failed to hear Boake Carter recently it was his first miss in 2,171 consecutive broadcasts. . . . Carter was a temporary victim of the "grippe". . . . John Charles Thomas will go vacationing, April 15, to Europe.

Al Smith will talk at the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick dinner in New York, March 17. Network will broadcast. . . . For the fourth time Fred Allen will attempt to get the "talking" Indian Mynah bird to talk on his March 11 program. . . . You've heard Jack Benny kid Don Bestor about wearing spats? Well, Benny now wears 'em, too.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

The Logan Elm Girl Scout troop No. 1 meet in the Pickaway school auditorium Tuesday.

We opened with the flag ceremony followed by a discussion of trees. Plans were made for the special program which will be held Girl Scout Week in Circleville. Then we had patrol corners followed by games.

The radio handclasp and taps closed the meeting.

COUNTY TO SEND STRONG OUTFITS TO CAGE MEETS

All Teams Believed to Have Chance to Survive First Round Games

To read Lancaster and Columbus newspapers it would seem Circleville, Ashville, New Holland and Pickaway basketball teams are going to be so much duck soup in the first round of their respective district tournaments this week.

The Tigers play the Fairfield-co metropolitans; Ashville tangles with Union; New Holland is confronted with Claridon, and Pickaway plays the Delaware third place team.

Wilbur Kilburger, Lancaster Eagle sports writer, says this about the Tiger-Lancaster fray:

"Lancaster high school's Golden Tornadoes have been declared favorites to cop their first Central district class A tourney game Friday evening. The local team will meet Circleville of the Central Buckeye league.

Tough After First

"But things will be tough going after that first tourney barrier. In their second contest they will play either Newark or Columbus North.

"Coach Fred Wallace is expected to depend on Fricker and Ruff at forwards, Van Gundy at center, and Capt. Gail Baughman, Bob Smith and Dennison at guards."

So that's that. We wonder how Jack Landrum's boys feel about being pushed aside as an easy foe.

Frank Colley of the Dispatch gives Lancaster a shade over the Red and Black.

Ashville's team has struck a scoring stride and may be mighty tough to deal with in its tournament. The Dispatch writer picks Millersport of Fairfield-co as the survivor of the bracket in which Ashville is placed. Chuck Young, Walter Gregg, Jerry Miller, Jimmy Gray and Wimpy Walden are five tough hombres when you put them on the basketball floor at the same time, so watch out Mr. Colley that your predictions don't go haywire.

Face Winchester

If New Holland can overcome Claridon, and don't believe Shadel Saunders' boys don't have a chance, they'll probably meet Canal Winchester. The Winchester boys have a reputation of smearing everyone before a tourney then falling, and that is what happened this year. Their record was swell until they met Grove City in the Franklin-co tourney. Grove City, a team that lost by a goodly number of points to Scioto-twp, won the Franklin-co title.

Pickaway, with a small but battling team, will meet either Alexandria or Prospect if successful in bumping the Delaware entrant.

Upper Arlington is favored by many to win the district B tourney, but it must be remembered that Groveport defeated the Columbus suburbanites on the Groveport court, while Ashville went to Groveport and was returned the victor in a great game.

The first game of the district tourney puts Arlington with Lancaster St. Mary, always tough in a tournament, together at 12:30.

Tigers Play at 8

The Tigers are on the boards at 8 o'clock Friday in Edwards gym, Delaware, while Pickaway plays at Westerville at 1:30, Ashville at 2:30, and New Holland at 6 o'clock.

Every basketball fan in Pickaway-co wishes success to the four entrants. It has been a long time since four basketball teams with such possibilities represented the county in a district tournament.

More power to all of them!

CHILLICOTHE IS VICTOR OVER PORTSMOUTH RIVAL

CHILLICOTHE, March 5.—The most bitter rival the Red Devils have on their schedules, Portsmouth, fell before a driving basketball team last night in a thrilling 23-20 contest.

A victory over the river team means a successful season regardless of the outcome of other games during the year.

WESLEYAN REMAINS OUT OF OLYMPIC TOURNAMENT

DELAWARE, March 5.—Declaring the tournament would require too much time from studies and that the system of elimination is unfair, Ray Detrick, Ohio Wesleyan coach, declared his team would not enter the midwestern Olympic tournament.

Indiana withdrew Wednesday leaving no major team from that state in the meet.

About This And That In Many Sports

Spring Drills Slated

Spring football practice starts at the high school Monday evening and with it Coach Jack Landrum will try to determine just what he is going to have for next fall's campaign—A new backfield with exception of Don Henry must be constructed. The line has possibilities and may become one of the best in the last several years.

The backfield will miss John Jenkins, Will Friley, John Griffith, who was out most of the season with injuries, Jim Henderson and George Rader.

May Transplant Some

Available for ends will be Dave Jackson, Bob Fickardt, Bus Hosler, and a couple of others including Stringbean Smith—Tackles might be Tear Weaver and Art Rooney; guards may be Ray Adkins and Millard Good, and the center may be Dub Nelson. Several possible line candidates might be tried in the backfield, too, and Coach Landrum is liable to try almost anything so a guard may be an end, a fullback may be a tackle, and a shirker will undoubtedly be on the bench when time comes to start work.

Fill Gym Twice

We'll wager a nickel that the C. A. C. gym is filled twice in the next few days—Friday when the Waterloo Wonders come for a battle and Monday when the amateur fight card will be resumed.

Don't miss either or you'll miss plenty of entertainment.

Many Sport Oddities

The house was sold out a week in advance of the Golden Gloves finals, March 6, in Chicago stadium which has 20,600 seats.

Dizzy Dean says he won't pitch this summer if Virgil Davis is the catcher... he thinks Davis gummed up a ball game for him last year... that gives you a little glimpse behind the scenes at the Cardinals, and is one reason why it is hard to pick the Cards to win a pennant.

There are 2,851 teams entered in the American Bowling Congress at Indianapolis, with a prize list of $100,000... After 16 years of high jumping, Harold Osborn, winner of a score of national and Olympic championships, is planning to try for the Olympics again.

Star With Waterloo Team

WYMAN ROBERTS—FORWARD BERYL DRUMMOND—FORWARD

The Wonders of the Waterloo high school are Class B champions of Ohio. They won that title the past two years. The four boys who made the All-tournament team last year—Wyman and Orlyn Roberts (cousins) Beryl Drummond and Captain Curt McMahon—are members of this year's team.

Stewart Wiseman, the fifth member of the team but who did not make the first All-Ohio team last year, is a student at Ohio university. Drummond and Orlyn Roberts are seniors this year. McMahon and Wyman Roberts are waiting until Drummond and Orlyn Roberts graduate and then they plan to enter some college together. They haven't decided what college.

Waterloo is a village of 150 population 20 miles from Ironton. Ironton is the southernmost city in Ohio.

The unique method of handling the ball which the boys display is said to be superior to that of any other team, amateur or professional, in the U. S.

Lost Three Times

The Wonders have been beaten three times by professional teams, Columbus, the New York Celtics and the Cincinnati Reds, and twice by high schools, Franklin, Ohio, and Ironton, Ohio, in 183 starts. They take on all comers and often take on as much as 14 games in a row without a night's rest, sometimes two on Sundays.

The reason the boys can play so much basketball is because with their style of play the ball does the traveling and not the boys. They move about the court very little but the ball is always in the air. They make a fast game. They have been known to pass for three minutes with no man holding the ball more than two seconds.

In addition to Wyman and

Orlyn Roberts, McMahon and Drummond the Wonders are composed of George Clarke and Buddy Kiser, the only two basketball players the Wonders have been able to come across who can handle the fast ball and trick work which they put out.

Coaches would benefit by taking their teams to watch the Wonders in action. Motion pictures of the Wonders and the New York Celtics have been shown at many coaching clinics to demonstrate various plays.

Only one of the Wonders is more than 6 feet tall. O. Roberts is 6'1" and McMahon is 6' exactly. Wyman and Orlyn Roberts are both 18 and McMahon is 19 and Drummond is 16. Clarke and Kiser, who fill the fifth place, are Marshall college students.

The Waterloo Wonders receive between 20 and 50 letters a day at the high school from fans alone. Innumerable other letters request dates for games.

They play the C.A.C. in the local gym Friday night.

Earliest thermometers for taking a patient's temperature were crude affairs devised in the sixteenth century.

KIPKE '36 SQUAD WITH SPIRIT TO WIN

Sophomores May Get Call Over Veterans Under New Gridiron Program

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 5.—(UP)—Harry Kipke has begun spring football practice at the University of Michigan with the dictum that his players will have "to look good even when they lose" if they expect to make the team next fall.

The coach is struggling to get Michigan "farther out" of the football rut. He uses the expression because his team failed to win half of its games last fall. Using as his nucleus some of the 20 lettermen—out of 26—who will be back, in addition to several other veterans, Kipke also will have men ineligible last fall to call as his trumps. He is counting heavily on the youngsters, figure that many of them will see competition and quite a number earn letters.

New Men Placed First

The coaches have about decided that players who failed to look impressive the last two seasons, even though they have seen enough service to earn letters, will have to make room for the new prospects. Whether they will go through with their present plans to build a team from rough-riding sophomores, or at the last fall back on more experienced men remains to be seen.

Three Regulars Lost

Only three of last season's regulars, Bill Renner, John Viergever and Mike Savage, will be missing next fall, but Kipke is looking beyond most of the survivors to new men. He is hopeful that Bob Cooper, backfield star, out all last season with injuries, and Frank Dutkowski and George Marzoni, guards, missing because of ineligibility, will be available.

Edward Everett Horton and Peggy Conklin head the cast of "Her Master's Voice," playing Thursday, for 1 day only at the Cliftona theatre. This is Miss Conklin's second role. After making her motion picture debut last year in "The President Vanishes," she returned to New York to play the feminine lead in "The Petrified Forest" with Leslie Howard. This adaptation of Clare Kummer's comedy deals with the adventures of a henpecked husband who finally breaks loose and becomes a radio crooner and national women's idol. It was directed by Joseph Stanley.

ANADA'S UNKNOWN SOLDIER FOUND TO BE AMERICAN

OFFICIALS AVER MORE MYSTERY ADDED TO CASE

How Did X Get to Prisoner Exchange Camp After War? Is Big Question

LONDON, Ontario, March 5.—Canada's unknown soldier is an American!

After 17 years of lost identity and the tangle of thousands of leads, Mr. X. X. Smith has been identified as Oliver Jordan who 30 years ago walked out of an institution for the feeble minded at Owning Mills, Md., and disappeared until he stumbled into a repatriation camp at Ripon, England, in 1919.

But does the erasure of "Smith" from a card in the files of Westminster hospital for ex-soldiers in London, Ontario, and the writing of "Jordan, Oliver—Maryland," and the case of the unknown soldier?

A Story of Two Men Canadian military authorities and the British war office shout "No—a thousand times no!"

They point to the history of two men. Mr. X, whose story begins in January, 1919, and Oliver Jordan, whose story ends in 1906, almost 250 miles across the Atlantic from the camp. Jordan's family is perfectly satisfied that they have found their brother.

But! It was just 30 years ago that Jordan, then an incoherent boy of 16, left the Maryland state institution for the feeble minded. It was difficult to understand what he was trying to say, although members of his family understood him. He dropped from sight, just as his father was to disappear 10 years later.

Shell Shocked?

Shortly after the Armistice a small, heavy, incoherent man appeared at the repatriation camp at Ripon, England. He wore a Prussian helmet, a German prisoner's uniform, but carried none of the usual credentials. Because officials could not interpret his language they decided he was shell shocked and were a million other men in 1919. They decided he belonged to the Canadian army, called him Smith and sent him to a mental hospital. Later in the year Smith was transferred to Canada and finally arrived at Cobourg. Later he was transferred to London, where he has been ever since.

The years went by with heavy shadows and Mr. X, a grinning, silent man, worked among his flowers at the mental hospital. Psychiatrists studied his case. Specialists were called in to break the veil that hung around this lone man's life.

They decided it was not shell shock that caused his strange silence, but a definite feeble mindedness probably apparent at birth. No army would accept such a man. Perhaps he was a German or a Belgian peasant. These things the doctors kept to themselves.

Thousands Inquire

As the story of Mr. X became known, thousands of inquiries came from homes whose fathers and husbands and sons had been reported missing. Fingerprints were sent to France, to Belgium, England, Holland and a complete file to Washington. Germany was consulted for records of its war prisoners. Only silence answered all inquiries.

Gradually Mr. X began to talk. Strange words they were, and meaningless.

Then this year publicity was focused on the case and Mrs. Peter Connell of Jersey City, N. J., came to London and to Mister X. She looked at him, talked with him, decided he was her brother, Oliver. She had been a little girl when he had walked out of the state institution at Owning Mills, but he bore a striking resemblance to two other brothers. Mrs. Connell said Oliver was the eldest of the 10 children of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Jordan. The mother was a Canadian.

Authorities Agree

Hospital authorities say Mrs. Connell evidently is correct. Meanwhile the man will stay in Canada. But did Jordan get into either the Canadian or the American army? No doctors would have approved him.

How did he get to Ripon, England?

Was his presence there with a group of prisoners of war a joke played by some clown? Did the ghosted Smith in a prisoner's uniform?

Or Was This the Case?

Did some prisoner desire to lose identity and did he trade places with Smith, knowing he never would be the complete story? Or was Smith actually a war prisoner from somewhere other than England? Some seek the

$5,000 Issue to Extend East End Sewer is Prepared

First steps toward a $5,000 bond issue for material expenses on the extensive east end WPA storm sewer project, listed at $21,993, were taken by councilmen Wednesday evening when they adopted a resolution requesting the city auditor to certify the necessary information for the issue.

The city's share of the program is listed at $4,949. This amount will be matched with $17,044 in federal funds, of which $11,200 is labor and the balance material costs. The project will supply drainage for all of the city district east of Clinton-st and eliminate the old stone box sewer now in use that empties into an open ditch and drains through the Haswell property.

Plans for the project were submitted to the city dads by David Courtwright, city engineer, and were referred to the service committee, service director and solicitor, to arrange a meeting with Pennsylvania railroad officials. Permission will be asked to run a branch of the system along the railroad right of way.

Unproductive Agricultural Area to Aid Wildlife

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Unproductive agricultural land is being converted into forests, parks and wildlife refuge by 29,000 men employed by the Resettlement Administration on development projects.

The Administration acquired 7,000,000 acres of poor land from 5,500 farmers to demonstrate the betterment of land that is unsuited for farming purposes. Relief labor is employed on 110 different projects, located in 40 states, and approximately 2,400 CCC workers are engaged in the development work.

"This development work is essential to a well-rounded land use program," Dr. L. Gray, assistant administrator in charge of the program, said. "The positive contribution is made when poor lands are restored to public usefulness by being developed for purposes which the natural characteristics of their soil, topography and climate will permit."

Most of the work now being undertaken in the eastern states is in connection with forest and park development. Fire lanes are being cleared, service roads built and dam sites prepared for park purposes. In certain projects, forest improvement has begun. The poorer trees are being removed from the present forest stands and utilized for lumber or firewood.

In the Western plains projects, the areas purchased are to be used for grazing districts. On these areas, present fences and abandoned buildings are being removed; preparatory to building new fences along new boundaries, and erecting dipping vats, corrals, and dams to conserve the water supply.

Recreation areas are being created from 44 of the projects of the program. The National Park Service is co-operating with the Resettlement Administration in this phase of the plan.

MAYOR, COUNCIL HOLD DISCUSSION OVER UNIFORMS

Councilmen held a recess session Wednesday evening, with Mayor W. J. Graham to discuss the ordinance passed last week concerning regulations in the police department on clothes and written orders.

Councilmen reported the mayor had neither vetoed nor signed the ordinance as he felt some arrangements should have been included in the measure on the type of overcoats to be used by officers. The mayor favored regulation overcoats while councilmen expressed the belief the salary paid officers was insufficient to make a request they purchase regular service overcoats.

YOU PAY THE BILL

WHAT would the millions of owners of private automobiles say if they were asked to provide free rights-of-way for the nation's railroads, and then pay continuously, year after year, the greater part of the cost of maintaining these rights-of-way?

One good guess is that they would hit the ceiling—and they would be justified.

And yet, you, along with thousands of other automobile owners, have provided free highways for the railroads' competitors, the great busses and trucks which operate in your state. In addition, you are paying the excess maintenance cost made necessary by their operation. These facts are undisputable. Take one example. Figures from the public records of one of the states served by the Norfolk and Western Railway show that:

For the privilege of operating over the public highways of that state, the certificated busses and trucks paid into the state treasury within a recent year a grand total of $527,513 in taxes.

For the construction and maintenance of roads strong enough to stand up under heavy motor vehicle traffic, the total annual additional cost to the state was $1,154,500. In other words, these subsidized carriers are paying less than one-half of their rightful share of the highway bill.

You and your neighbors—the owners of private automobiles—paid the shortage of $626,987. And millions of car owners in other states are making up similar shortages of millions of dollars by paying more for their automobile tags and higher gasoline taxes.

The state taxes on your car and on the busses and trucks are fixed by your state legislature. The legislature is made up of your representatives. Are you going to continue to subsidize the highway carriers? Are you going to continue to pay the additional cost of road construction and maintenance for their operation? In short, are you going to continue to be the tax goat for the busses and trucks? Or are you going to demand that your representatives fix tax rates under which the motor carriers will pay their proper share of highway costs? The issue is up to you.

WHAT would the millions of owners of private automobiles say if they were asked to provide free rights-of-way for the nation's railroads, and then pay continuously, year after year, the greater part of the cost of maintaining these rights-of-way?

One good guess is that they would hit the ceiling—and they would be justified.

And yet, you, along with thousands of other automobile owners, have provided free highways for the railroads' competitors, the great busses and trucks which operate in your state. In addition, you are paying the excess maintenance cost made necessary by their operation. These facts are undisputable. Take one example. Figures from the public records of one of the states served by the Norfolk and Western Railway show that:

For the privilege of operating over the public highways of that state, the certificated busses and trucks paid into the state treasury within a recent year a grand total of $527,513 in taxes.

For the construction and maintenance of roads strong enough to stand up under heavy motor vehicle traffic, the total annual additional cost to the state was $1,154,500. In other words, these subsidized carriers are paying less than one-half of their rightful share of the highway bill.

You and your neighbors—the owners of private automobiles—paid the shortage of $626,987. And millions of car owners in other states are making up similar shortages of millions of dollars by paying more for their automobile tags and higher gasoline taxes.

The state taxes on your car and on the busses and trucks are fixed by your state legislature. The legislature is made up of your representatives. Are you going to continue to subsidize the highway carriers? Are you going to continue to pay the additional cost of road construction and maintenance for their operation? In short, are you going to continue to be the tax goat for the busses and trucks? Or are you going to demand that your representatives fix tax rates under which the motor carriers will pay their proper share of highway costs? The issue is up to you.
